

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 20 1741

IT is a Maxim thoroughly established among the Polite, That a Man had as good be out of the World as out of the Fashion. Upon which some Persons of refined Parts have established the Opposition. It is, I will venture to lay it down, a Desire of being in the Fashion, which keeps that together; and tho' I confess there is somewhat paradoxical in the Position, that a Passion for Fashion should be no better founded than a Passion for Liberty; yet I dare say, if I may be but heard, I shall be able to make it out. All I desire to be granted is a Thing's being extravagant is no Proof of its Value. We know that many consummate Politicians, particularly Machiavel and Caleb D'Anvers, suggested Court Measures to be influenced by very little. And this being so, I conceive there is no reason for believing that Patriots being subject to like Passions is a perfect Chimera. Far be it from me to say that my Authority is of any Weight in an Argument of this Nature; no, I am content to rest the Matter on strict Evidence. It is unbecoming any but those of the Faction to decline proving what they say, or to expect, after Twenty Years Expectation, their own vouching should be allow'd for good Measure, and that too in their own Cause: No, this is the Privilege, to which I own I have no Pretence.

Among the first new Maxims in Politicks published in the last Year was this, That nothing more was required for the Preference of any Kind, than a Profession of Principles, and a Dependence on certain Persons (tho' they knew how little Truth there was in the Story) they were so kind as to point out. Therefore Men without Merit applied, and were, well deserved, disappointed, then their sole Resource was turning Malecontents themselves. By this means the Party increased considerably, and a Multitude of hot-headed young People who failed of Places and Commissions fell in with the Patriots, were receiv'd into Arms, and immediately rewarded with Provisions, the grand Engine of Corruption among the Patriots. In Process of time, as the Arts of the Sophistry of their Scribes, and the Clamour of Disappointed, had Force enough to make the known and formidable, young Men took up a new Maxim, that to come into the World with Dignity, it was necessary to hear a Youth just elop'd from Winchester, or other School, profess Free-thinking in Religion, thorough Contempt of Civil Government, in defiance of the good Principles with which he was bred. All Effects of Levity became Fashions among Folks; and from these Accidents modern Liberty became so first, and continues so still.

Convinced of this one needs only remember, that one Period Poetry is the reigning Amusement, another Musick, then Gaming; and, in its way not Politicks; but especially when such imaginary Pains was taken to introduce and recommend their Ladies, some their Relations, in the Practice of Declaiming against Power, Places, Courts, and Patriotism an Assembly Conversation as a Quadrille; and the Ladies being once in, the followed of course. Others instructed Sons, Nephews, and Wards, on their coming from the University by this early instilling ill Principles, kept them actually from receiving better. At this Rate the Practices of a very few considerable Persons in the Ways of the World, and skilled in Humane Nature, Nonconformity in Church or State may have its Partizans, and in time its Martyrs. The first was Complaisance, soon grows Habit, according to the Constitution of the Person ripens into inveterate Obstinacy, or furious Zeal, the Opinions more or less important. Once Things are brought thus far, the rest is a Party once formed, and not gratified in its Opinions, will thrive with ever so little Cultivation. The Power of Novelty in some, the Desire of piquing Power in others, a Fondness of displaying the Banner of Faction is display'd in any Free Nation, no question is to be made but Numbers will repair thereto, and those who at the Beginning came wantonly, just to learn Experience, by making a Campaign or two in the Service, and being enter'd and heated, either go or are drawn much greater Lengths than themselves ever thought or intended. Being once dup'd they are asham'd to go back, and like young Swordsmen had rather run a Risque in defending an Error, than condescend to own it. This very Conduct of theirs deceives others, who call that Firmness which is in truth Stubbornness, praising a very mean Vice, while they think they are commending a rare Heroick Virtue. I pretend to apply nothing; but those who read this, and will but look back to the Beginning of the Opposition, may judge for themselves whether what I have delivered accounts for its Progress or not; and having so done, let them determine freely.

It has not a little help'd to keep up the Fashion, and maintain the Patriots Corps full, that Ways and Means have been devised to pay Court to all Sorts of Men, and to make all Stations and all Abilities, as well as all Parties and all Opinions useful to the good Cause. Men who have Land Estates, great Relations, and numerous Dependants, are encouraged to assume the Airs which the Barons gave themselves of old. They are taught to believe they have an hereditary Right to govern their Fellow-subjects, which is generally couched under the Term Natural Interest, as if a Burgeiss or Freeholder could be from his Birth bound to any particular Family in a Matter of such Importance as a Vote. Yet this Cant prevails on many, and puts them on taking all imaginable Pains to increase their Power and Authority over their Neighbours, which all the while is Influence and Corruption. But no matter for that, the Country Gentleman is persuaded it is Patriotism, and in Confidence thereof lives high, grants Favours, sits at every Vestry and Quarter Session, in short is as active and industrious in qualifying himself to be the Instrument of another Man's Repentment, as the meanest Tool of the worst Minister could be to serve the Ends of his Master. Thus the Patricians, the richer and more considerable Part of the Faction, are plaid off, and led to waste their Families and Fortunes, while their Tutors openly applaud their Labours, but secretly laugh at their Folly.

Men in the next Rank in the World these Achitophels employ in declaiming, influencing, and giving publick Sanction to their Contrivances. In Corporation Meetings, and all Assemblies of that kind, they magnify the Wisdom, Honesty, and publick Spirit of their Party, assert stoutly, talk haughtily, and are too much persuaded of what they say to admit of any Reply. In Coffee-houses they give the Cue to the News-writers, for by advancing boldly Facts they wish to be true, they discover what Biass the Papers must carry to please them. Hence so much dirty Scurrility on the greatest Men at home in one Paper, and the distracted Outrages on Foreign Powers, which are the distinguishing Beauties in another. The same Sort of Folk are useful in the same Way at publick Entertainments, and at Places of Resort for Health or Pleasure. By an assuming Air they give Law to Conversation, and intimidate Men of better Sense and Meaning than themselves, because those good Qualities are accompanied with a little too much Modesty. Thus they form the main Battle of the Patriot Host, and are ready on all Occasions to go upon Duty, and at their own Expence too; for it is an inviolable Maxim of the more prudent Chiefs to venture any thing for their Country, — except their Persons or their Properties; but to qualify this, they are generous even to Profusion in exhorting others to spare neither.

People of milder Natures, and in a middle Station of Life, are otherwise disposed of. If they cannot speak or vote, they may treat for the Cause, or keep a Sort of Table for the good Friends to their Country. They may also be prevailed on to contribute occasionally towards the privy Purse of Patriotism, in order to combat Corruption at its own Weapons. An indigent Scribe, an active emissary, or a worn-out Instrument of superior Character, may be quarter'd upon them. In return for these Favours, they are on all proper Opportunities to be commemorated as Benefactors. If they are in Trade, their Wares shall be recommended in the Vehicles of Patriot Intelligence. Or if more cunning than to accept such Moonshine, they shall have Promises of considerable things in the Year of Jubilee, when all Places shall be bellow'd by the Party, and every Year they are engaged they shall be told this Jubilee will infallibly be the next. At a dead Lift, when Faith seems to grow weak, and there is great Danger of Desertion, the Chiefs may graciously grant them their own Custom, as well to secure them as to allure others. And thus the Sultans to their Camp are kept steady.

Brisk Fellows of quick Parts and low Fortunes, who have such a Smattering in Verse as to be able to lampoon, and so much Skill in Prose as will enable them to write a Libel, are encouraged to use their Talents, and to storm the Pillory with invincible Courage. Provided they have too stout Hearts to recoil at accusing the Innocent, and more Obstinacy than to dream of Repentance, tho' detected in the most enormous Villainies. This Forlorn Hope are used exactly like Hussars, they are allowed what they can get, and are as little beloved by those they serve, as by those they serve against. One would wonder where People are found to ride in such a Troop. But the fair Words first given, the fair Promises which follow next, and the exalted Encomia bestowed even on the meanest and most scurrilous Performances, intoxicate these Men, and keep them always so warm as that they see not the Misery of their own Condition, tho' visible enough to all Mankind beside. Heated by these Delusions, there is nothing they will not say, no Man they will scruple to abuse. Accusations are with them things of course, and tho' now and then they have a mad Lawyer amongst them, yet they are always for signing Judgment and Writs of Enquiry, and bear nothing with so much Impatience as being forced to bring a Cause to Trial.

Thus have I fairly made out, that the Opposition is no more than a reigning Fashion, brought up by enterprising Men for their Convenience, who, whatever their Parts may be, are undoubtedly somewhat deficient in a more essential Quality, and therefore I most heartily wish them Penitence, but not Employments.

R. FREEMAN.

Extra of a Letter from Kirkwall, Jan. 24.

Have spoke with all the 13 Hands that were saved out of the Swecia of Gottenburg, particularly with Wm. Brown the chief Carpenter, who assures me, That the Captain, Mates, with four of the Supercargoes, &c. went off on a Float, and 'tis fear'd they will never be heard of. Mr. Cuming, another of the Super- cargoes, with six others, went off in the Barge, so there's good Ground to hope they got safe to Lile, or Norway, having a Compass, with Li- s, &c. with a Wind at W. S. W. and moderate ether three or four Days after. They were fol- lowed by two other of the Boats with 40 Men, of whom we also hope for good Accounts. 'Tis fear'd it is sav'd of the Cargo will turn but to small amount, being either torn, or rotten; tho' we know place where so great Care would have been taken to preserve it.

LONDON, February 21.

By the Popes-head, Capt. Wager, in 7 Weeks from Antigua we learn, that Sir Chaloner Ogle had 21 Men of War (which were, except one which return'd and three put into Lisbon, all that sail'd with him) and all the Transports at one or other of the Leeward Islands; that he sailed from Dominica the 26th or 27th of De- cember; that the Seamen and Soldiers were surprizingly healthy, that from their leaving England only three Officers had died, and, in an Average, among the Sol- diers not three Men in a Company, and of the Sailors less; that the Command of the Army upon the Death of Lord Cathcart devolved upon Brigadier-general Went- worth.

A Spanish Privateer lately took a Sloop very near to the Island of Barbados called the Lancashire Witch.

The Letters from Barbados of the 24th Dec. last mention the Death of Mrs. Byng, Widow of the Hon. Robert Byng, late Governor of that Island.

Those of the 29th ditto from Antigua mention the Death of Capt. Gafcoigne, Commander of the Torbay and Commodore under Sir Chaloner Ogle.

The Roger, Capt. Betson, bound from Campveer to the South Firth in Scotland, is lost near Ely.

In our Paper of the 19th instant, we mentioned three Ships having, by Letters from Charles Town in South Carolina, dated Dec. 29. been taken off their Bar by a Spanish Privateer, and carried into St. Au- gustine: One of them, the Ancona, or Angola, was bound from Madeira, with Wine for Charles Town; another, a Snow, Drummond Master, bound from thence to Antigua; and the third a Schooner, but nei- ther her Name nor Voyage were mentioned. Capt. Fanshaw, in one of his Majesty's 20 Gun Ships, was at Charles Town, going to convoy some Ships bound from thence a proper Distance off the Coast. The En- trance to that Harbour is obstructed by a Bar, not pas- sable but by Vessels of a small Draught of Water, un- less at Spring-Tides; so that all Ships bound in, must anchor off the Bar till the Tides serve, and lie very much expos'd both to Enemies and Weather, near no Port or Harbour to shelter them.

Yesterday Morning died in the 70th Year of his Age, at his Lodgings in Russel-street, Col. Richards, for- merly of General Philips's Regiment of Foot.

The same Day died Major Jackson, of General Bowles's Regiment of Foot.

Thursday Night last Edward Bosman otherwise Nose and Chin Ned, a notorious Offender, was committed to Newgate by Sir Edward Hill, for stealing a Dowlas Shirt out of the Parlour Window of Mrs. Jane Lagea, in the Middle of the Day. This said poor Woman has been robb'd four or five times within this Year and half of several Goods and Linnen of great Value.

Yesterday the Right Rev. Dr. Secker Lord Bishop of Oxford preached the annual Sermon of the Society for propagating the Gospel in Foreign Parts, at Bow Church Cheapside; where were present his Grace the Lord Archbishop of Canterbury, several Right Reverend and Reverend Clergy, the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor, &c.

Last Monday Se'nnight a Fire happen'd at the Seat of Mr. St. André, at Weaving near Aldermaston in Berk- shire, which burnt the same to the Ground, and a great Part of the curious Tapestry and other rich Furniture was entirely destroy'd. 'Tis apprehended this Accident was occasion'd by the hanging of Linnen too near the Fire to air.

A Series of FAMILIAR LETTERS from a Beautiful Young DANIEL, to her PARENTS.
Now first published in order to cultivate the Principles of VIRTUE and RELIGION in the Minds of the YOUTH of Both Sexes.

A Narrative which has its Foundation in TRUTH and NA-TURE; and at the same time that it agreeably entertains, by a Variety of curious and affecting Incidents, is entirely divested of all those Images, which, in too many Pieces calculated for Amusement only, tend to inflame the Minds
they should instruct.

J. Osborn, in Pater-noster Row.

This Day are Publish'd,
The Two following Books written by Tho. Chubb, and printed for Tho. Cox, at the Lamb under the Royal-Exchange.

1. A Discourse on Miracles, considered as Evidences to prove the Divine Original of a Revelation. Wherein is shewn what Kind and Degree of Evidence arises from them; and in which the various Reasonings and those Questions that relate to the Subject are fairly represented.

To which is added, an Appendix, containing an Enquiry into this Question, viz. Whether the Doctrines of a future State of Existence to Men, and a future Retribution, were plainly and clearly taught by Moses and the Prophets? Humbly offered to the Consideration of the Rev. Dr. Warburton, and all others that particularly interest themselves in this Question.

2. The second Edition of the True Gospel of Jesus Christ asserted. Wherein is shewn what is, and what is not that Gospel; what was the great and good End it was intended to serve; how it is excellently suited to answer that Purpose; and how, or by what Means, that End has in a great measure been frustrated. Humbly offered to publick Consideration, and in particular to all those who esteem themselves, or are esteemed by others to be ministers of Jesus Christ, and Preachers of his Gospel; and more especially to all those who have obtained the Reputation of being the great Defenders of Christianity.

Acts xvii. 6 They drew Jason, and certain Brethren, unto the Rulers of the City, crying, These that have turned the World upside down, are come hither also.

To which is added, A short Dissertation on Providence.
The former Edition was sold for 4s. but this for 2s.

by the Spaniards call'd Florida, and by the French La Louisiane, viz. A Description of the People, Animals, Vegetables, Metals, Minerals, and other rich and valuable Commodities this Province naturally produces. With a large and judicious Preface, proving the Right of the English to that Country;
the Manner of the French usurping great Part of it; and the great Danger our Colonies on the Continent will be expos'd to, if not timely prevented: With many useful Remarks relating to our Plantations in general. Collected from Authentick Journals, Travels, &c. of the English in that Country; the Originals of which are now in the Possession of Dr

The Incomparable POWDER for Clean- ing the TEETH,

Has withstood, by its most excellent and known Virtue, Attempts of many repeated Counterfeits; some of which it by the Name of Powder, others under several other Names, therefore pray take Notice, that the only true and original Powder, is sold no where else; but only at the below: It is sent for in large Quantities from foreign Parts beyond the Seas, where good Allowance is made as is effectual in the East and West Indies as at London.

It has given surprizing Satisfaction to most of the Nobility and Gentry in England.
Years last past, that it hath been published, and that of it still continue to be sold.

It is sold only at Mrs. King's Toyshop, the Black against the Cross-Keys Tavern in Cornhill, and at Markham's Toyshop, the Seven Stars under St. Dun-stons Church in Fleet-street, and no where else in England
each Box.

At once using it makes the Teeth as white as Ivory, so black or yellow before, and effectually prevents rotting or decaying, continuing them sound to the Age. It wonderfully cures the Scoury in the Gums, Rheum or Defluxion, kills the Worms at the Root Teeth, and thereby hinders the Tooth-ach. It fastens loose Teeth, being a neat cleanly Medicine, pleasant and grateful Scent, and in Virtue far exceed ever yet found out for those Purposes.

All the Nobility, Gentry, &c. who send to Mrs. King for the Powder for Teeth, are desired to give strict to mistake the Shop, (MARKHAM at length in the Seven Stars) because most of the Toy-men in her hood, seeing Multitudes go to her Shop for it, have up Counterfeits and sell their Stuff in Imitation of and approved Powder, in Prejudice to the Publick.

The LIP-SALVE
Which is so much esteemed, and of so many Years experience, and whose Virtues vastly exceed any Counterfeits, since its first Publication, is sold at Places at 1s. each Box.

For in two or three Hours time it heals them, the rough or chapt; prevents the Skin from peeling, them delicately soft and smooth, giving them a bicund Colour; the Fragrancy or its Odour also Breath fine and sweet, and it may be eaten for its
